THE WEE WEE WOMAN

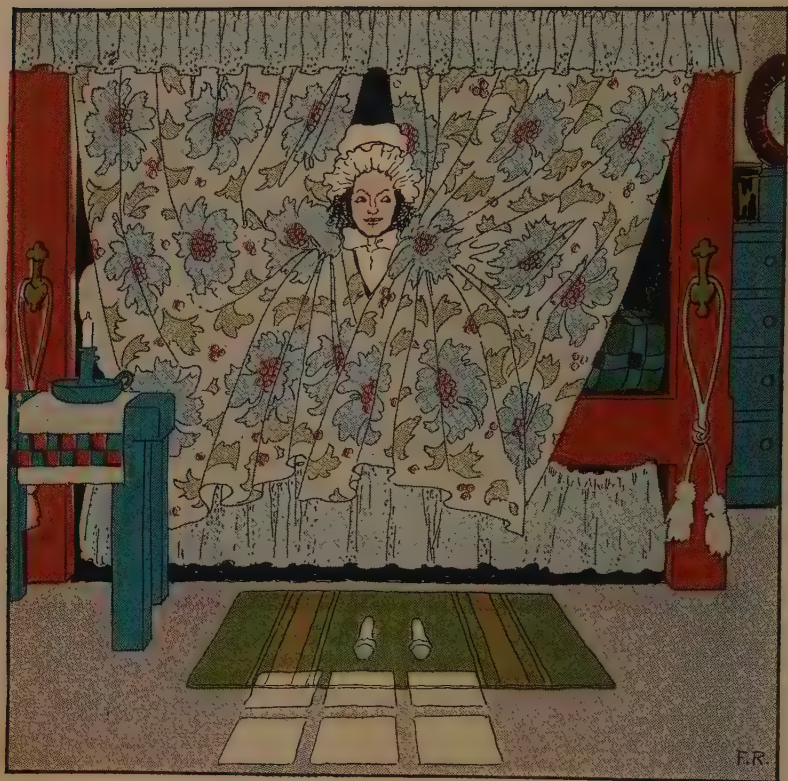

Once a Wee Wee Woman
lived in a wee wee house.

The Wee Wee Woman
had a wee wee bed.

By the wee wee bed
was a wee wee table.

On the wee wee table
was a wee wee candle.

One night the Wee Wee Woman went to bed.

Soon she heard a noise.

She called,

“What is that?”

Soon the Wee Wee Woman
heard the noise again.

So she lighted the candle.
She looked under the bed.
There was nothing there.

She went down the stairs.
She looked under the chairs.
There was nothing there.
She looked under the table.
There was nothing there.

Then the Wee Wee Woman
went up the stairs.

She blew out the candle
and got into bed again.

Soon the Wee Wee Woman
heard the noise again.

She got out of bed.

She lighted the candle
and went down the stairs.

She looked under the chairs.
She looked under the table.
There was nothing there.
She opened the window
and looked out.
There was nothing there.

The Wee Wee Woman
closed the window.

Then she went up the stairs
and got into bed again.

The Wee Wee Woman
went to sleep.

Soon she heard the noise again.
So she got out of bed.
She lighted the candle.
She opened the door
and went down the stairs.

She looked under the chairs.
There was nothing there.
She looked under the table.
There was nothing there.
Then she opened
the cupboard door.
And out jumped—Boo!

THE GINGERBREAD BOY

There was a little old woman and a little old man.

They had a little old kettle
and a little old pan.

The little old woman
made a Gingerbread Boy.

She put the Gingerbread Boy into the little old kettle under the little old pan.

The Gingerbread Boy said,
“This is too hot.”

So he jumped out of the kettle and ran away.

F.R.

“Stop, Gingerbread Boy!”
called the little old man.

WHITE HEN

Once upon a time, White Hen lived in a little house.

The house was under a tree.

Sly Fox lived in the woods.

He said,

“Some time I will catch White Hen.”

White Hen said,
“Sly Fox is in the woods.
I must not go there.”

Sly Fox hid in the woods.
But White Hen did not go into the woods.

One day Sly Fox said,
“I must catch White Hen.”

So he hid in the woods again.
He looked and looked for White Hen.

Soon White Hen
went into the woods.

Sly Fox jumped out
and caught her.

White Hen called,
“Let me go! Oh, let me go!
Please let me go!”

A big bird in a tree
heard White Hen call.
He flew down on Sly Fox's back.
Then he picked Sly Fox's back.
But Sly Fox
would not let White Hen go.

White Hen called,
“Let me go! Oh, let me go!

AN OLD WOMAN AND HER PIG

An Old Woman found some money.
She said,
“What shall I buy
with this money?
I shall buy a pig.”
And she did.

On the way home
they came to a stile.

The Old Woman said,
“Pig, pig, jump over the stile.”

The pig said,
“I will not jump over the stile.”

The Old Woman met a dog.

She said,

“Dog, dog, bite pig!

Pig will not jump over the stile,
and we shall not get home tonight.”

The dog said,

“No, I will not bite pig.”

LAMBKIN

Once upon a time
Lambkin went to see his Grankin.
Grankin lived upon a hill.
On the way Lambkin met a fox.
The fox looked at Lambkin.

The fox said,
“Lambkin, I will eat you.”
Lambkin began to cry.
He said in a wee voice,
“To Grankin’s house I go,
Where fatter I shall grow.
Then you may eat me so.”

The fox said,
“Go on, then.
I do not want to eat
a wee Lambkin.
Come back when you are fatter.”
So Lambkin ran on.

On the way Lambkin met a dog.

The dog said,

“Lambkin, I will eat you.”

Lambkin began to cry.

He said in a wee voice,

upon the hill.

Lambkin said, "Grankin,
please may I eat some grass?
I must grow fat."

Lambkin ate the green grass.
Soon he was a fat Lambkin.

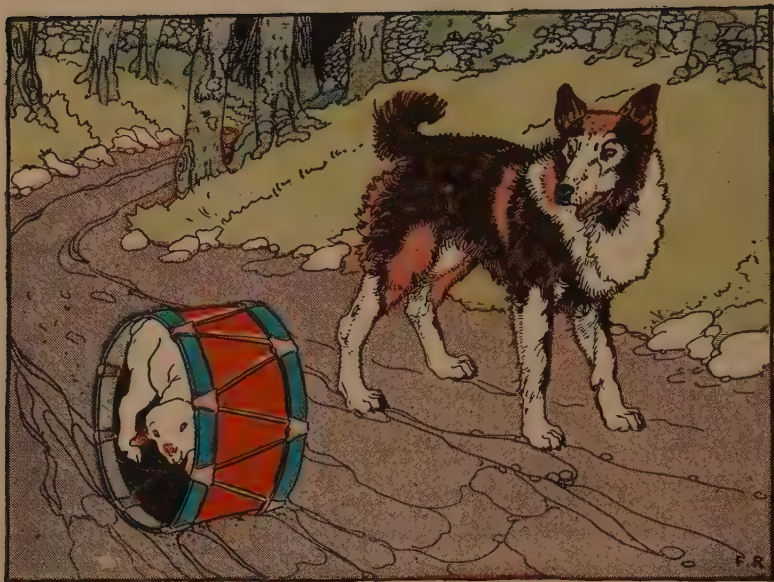

Lambkin said,
“Grankin, what shall I do?
The fox and the dog
will be looking for me.
They want to eat a fat Lambkin.
Please help me!”

Grankin said,
“Here is a drum for you.
Get into this drum
and roll down the hill.”

When Lambkin got into the drum
it rolled down the hill.

The drum met the dog.

The dog said,

“Have you seen Lambkin?”

Lambkin called out in a big voice,

“Gone to see Grankin

Where fatter he will grow,

Then you may eat him so.”

And the drum rolled on.

Soon the drum met the fox.

The fox said,

“Have you seen Lambkin?”

Lambkin called out in a big voice,

“Gone to see Grankin

Where fatter he will grow,

Then you may eat him so.”

And the drum rolled on.

The fox said,
“That is Lambkin’s voice.
He is in that drum.
I must catch him.”

The fox ran down the hill,
but he could not catch the drum.
So Lambkin rolled home.

SQUEAKY'S TAIL

Once there was a little mouse.
His name was Squeaky.
He lived in an old barn.
Pussy lived in the barn, too.

One day Pussy said,
“Squeaky would make me
a good dinner.”

One day Squeaky went out to find some cheese.

When Pussy saw Squeaky
she ran after him.

Squeaky ran this way and that way.

Pussy ran this way and that way.

Soon she caught Squeaky and bit off his tail.

F.R

F.R.

Squeaky said, "Oh! Oh! Oh!
What shall I do?

Pussy bit off my tail."

Then Squeaky said to Pussy,
"You bit off my tail.

Pussy, good Pussy,
please give me back my tail."

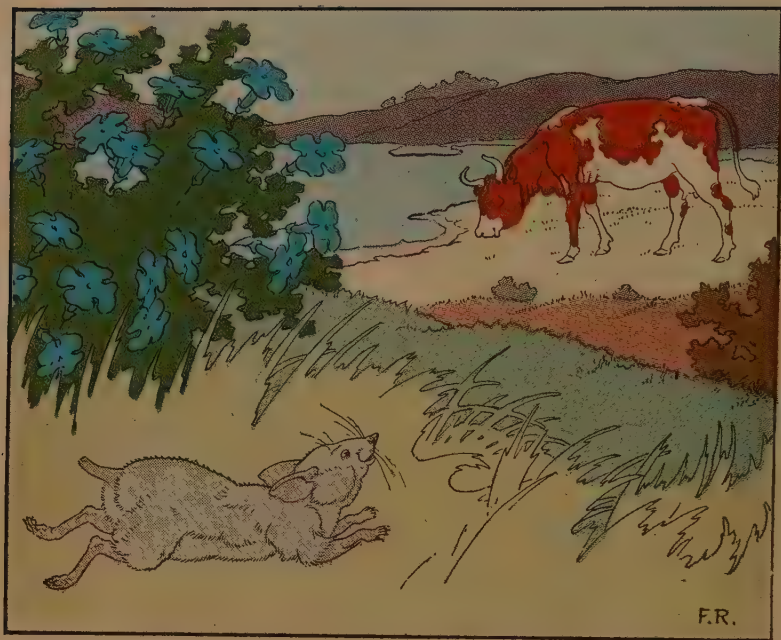

F.R

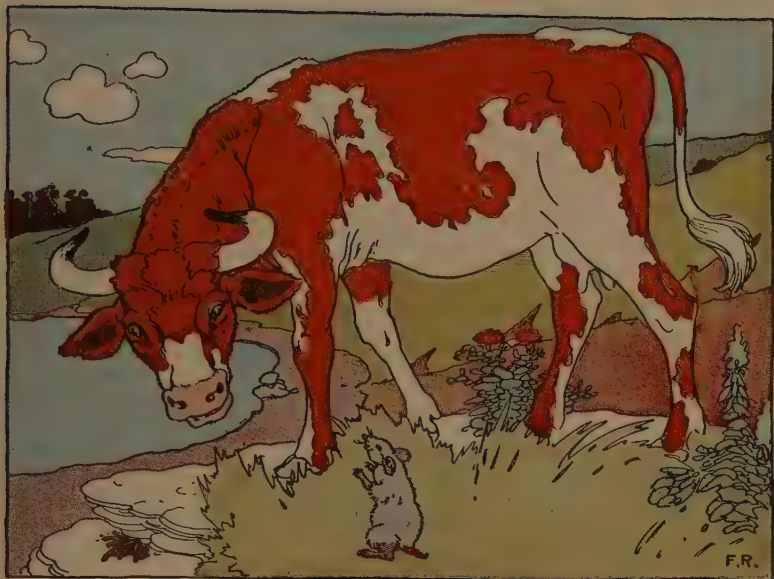

Pussy said, "Yes, Squeaky,
I bit off your tail.
Get some milk for my dinner.
Then you may have your tail."

"Thank you," said Squeaky.
"I shall get some milk
for your dinner."

Then he went for the milk.

Squeaky went to the cow,
and said,
“Pussy bit off my tail.
Good cow, please help me!
Please give me some milk.
I will give it to Pussy.
Then she will give me my tail.”

The cow said, "I like hay.
Get some hay for my dinner.
Then you may have some milk."

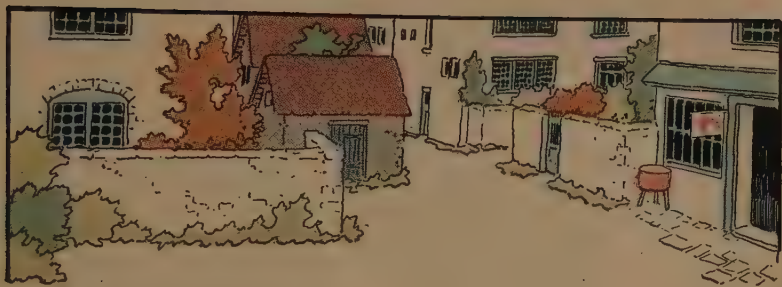

So Squeaky went for the hay.

He went to the farmer,
and said,
"Pussy bit off my tail.
Good farmer, please help me!

Please give me some hay.
I will give it to the cow.
She will give me some milk.
I will give it to Pussy.
Then she will give me my tail."

The farmer said, "I like meat.
Get some meat for my dinner.
Then you may have some hay."

F.R.

Squeaky went to the butcher,
and said,
“Pussy bit off my tail.
Good butcher, please help me!
Please give me some meat.
I will give it to the farmer.
He will give me some hay.
I will give it to the cow.
She will give me some milk.
I will give it to Pussy.
Then she will give me my tail.”

The butcher said, “I like bread.
Get some bread for my dinner.
Then you may have the meat.”

Squeaky went to the baker
and said,
“Pussy bit off my tail.
Good baker, please help me!
Please give me some bread.

I will give it to the butcher.
He will give me some meat.
I will give it to the farmer.
He will give me some hay.
I will give it to the cow.
She will give me some milk.
I will give it to Pussy.
Then she will give me my tail."

The baker said, “Yes, Squeaky, you may have some bread. It will make a good dinner for the butcher.”

Then the baker gave the bread to Squeaky.

Squeaky gave the bread to the butcher.

The butcher gave him some meat.

He gave the meat to the farmer.

The farmer gave him some hay.

He gave the hay to the cow.

The cow gave him some milk.

When Squeaky gave Pussy the milk
he said,

“Pussy, here is some milk.
It will make you a good dinner.
Please give me back my tail.”

Pussy said, “Thank you.
This is good milk, Squeaky.
It will make me a good dinner.
You may have your tail.”

So Squeaky got his tail again.

THE THREE BEARS

Once upon a time
there were three bears.

One was Father Bear.

He had a great big voice.

One was Mother Bear.

She had a middle-sized voice.

One was Baby Bear.

He had a little wee voice.

One day Mother Bear
made some porridge.

She put the porridge
into three bowls.

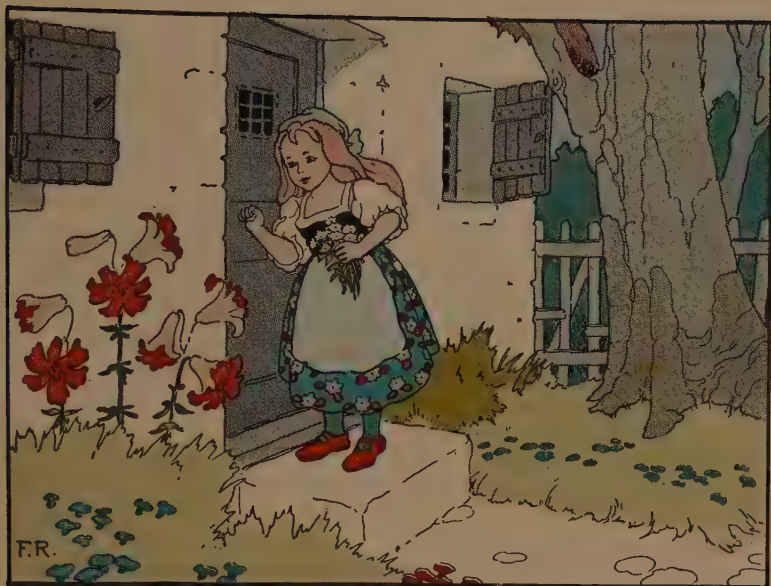

Father Bear said
in his great big voice,
“My porridge is too hot!”

Mother Bear said
in her middle-sized voice,
“My porridge is too hot!”

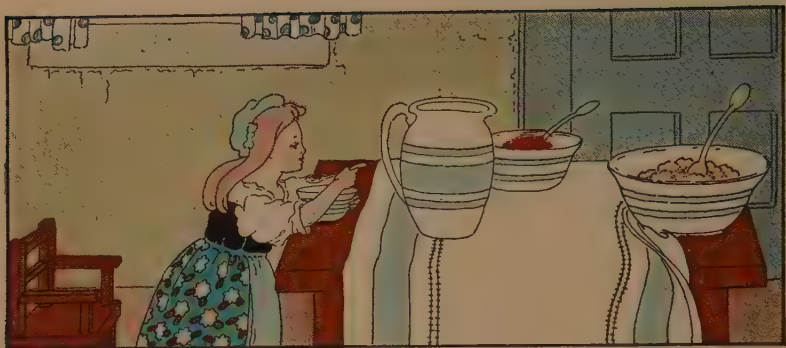

Baby Bear said
in his little wee voice,
“My porridge is too hot!”

Father Bear said,
“Let us all go for a walk.”
Mother Bear said,
“Yes, let us all go for a walk.”
Baby Bear said,
“Yes, let us all go for a walk.”
So they all went for a walk.

Soon a little girl came by.
Her name was Goldilocks.
She saw the three bears' house.
She rapped at the door.
Rap! Rap! Rap!
There was no one at home.
So she opened the door and went in.

Goldilocks saw the three bowls of porridge.

She ate some of the porridge
in the great big bowl.

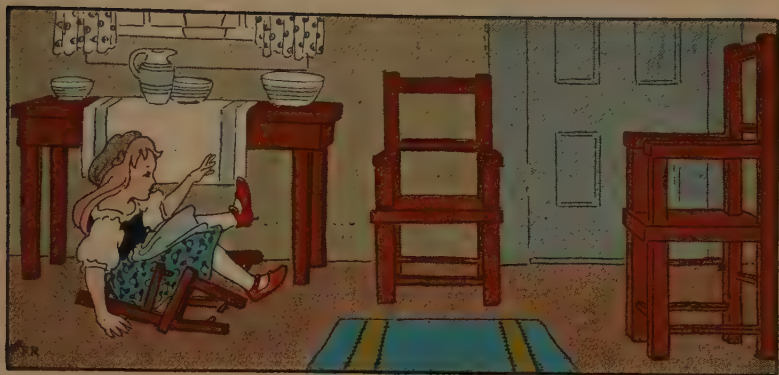

It was too hot.

She ate some of the porridge
in the middle-sized bowl.

It was too hot.

Then she ate some porridge
in the little wee bowl.

It was so good
that she ate it all up.

There were three chairs
for the three bears.

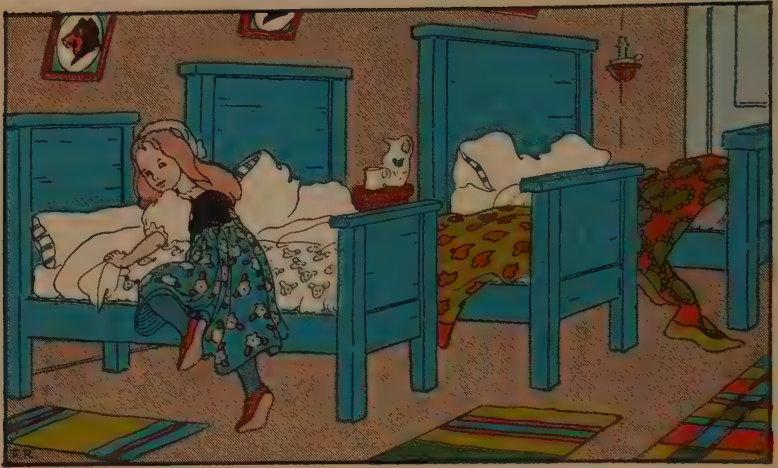

Goldilocks
sat on the great big chair.

But it was too hard.

Goldilocks
sat on the middle-sized chair.

But it was too soft.

Goldilocks
sat on the little wee chair and broke it.

Goldilocks wanted to sleep.
So she went up the stairs.
There were three beds
for the three bears.
Goldilocks lay on the big bed.
It was too hard.
She lay on the middle-sized bed.
It was too soft.
Then she lay on the little wee bed,
and soon went to sleep.
